2014 Resident Paper Deadline Extended to November 30

Together with our publisher, Lippincott Williams & Wilkins, I am pleased to announce our annual competition to recognize the top Resident paper for the academic year 2014. The winning paper will be published in a forthcoming issue of the Journal of Psychiatric Practice. In addition, the primary Resident author will be invited to serve a 1-year term during 2015-2016 as a special Resident representative on the Editorial Board of the journal and will be invited to attend the Editorial Board Meeting during the 2015 annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association. The winner will also receive a certificate from the Journal of Psychiatric Practice in recognition of this achievement.
